

Job Profile

Kitchen Assistant

Meet Alfie:

Alfie works as a Kitchen Assistant at a Golf Course. He has shared with us what his job is like.

Responsibilities

At his job Alfie washes up pots and trays, puts plates and cups in the dishwasher, puts away clean dishes, cleans surfaces in the kitchen, prepares vegetables for cooking and sets tables in the restaurant for events.

Kitchen Assistant

Working hours

Alfie works one shift a week, his shift is 6 hours long. Sometimes he will work an extra shift if the kitchen needs someone to do more work. They ask Alfie to do this because they know he is a good and reliable worker.

Earning a wage

Alfie gets paid a wage to work. He uses the money he earns to go to the pub with his friends and to buy things he needs for his house.

The Best Parts

Alfie's favourite task to do at work is the washing up, because he finds it calming to do. Alfie's favourite thing about having a job is earning money.

Kitchen Assistant

What to expect

Sometimes the kitchen at work can be very noisy and busy, so Alfie needs to be good at working around loud noises.

Sometimes Alfie has to change his routine and learn a new skill at work if there is a new job the chef needs him to do.

Job Skills

To do his job Alfie needs to:

- Turn up to work on time
- Act and dress appropriately for work
- Listen to instructions
- Be adaptable to doing new tasks
- Be active and move around a lot
- Use physical skills to carry heavy things
- Use attention to detail when cleaning dishes and surfaces and when cutting vegetables
- Be able to work in a noisy, busy environment
