

Job Profile

School Meals

Supervisory

Assistant

Meet Holly:

Holly works as a School Meals Supervisory Assistant at a school. She has shared with us what her job is like.

Responsibilities

At her job Holly sits the children down at lunch, brings out drinks, helps to cut up the children's food, gets toys out on the playground, supervises play, sweeps the school hall and wipes down the lunch tables.

Supervisory Assistant

Working hours

Holly works two shifts a week at her job. She works during the school lunch break so each shift lasts only one hour.

Earning a wage

Holly gets paid a wage to work. She uses the money she earns to go to the theatre and buy things for herself.

The Best Parts

Holly's favourite task to do at work is wiping down the messy lunch tables to get them nice and clean again. Holly's favourite thing about having a job is getting paid and spending time with the children.

Supervisory Assistant

What to Expect

A school at lunch time can be very loud with lots of children talking and eating. Holly has to be good at being around loud noises and paying attention to lots of children who want to talk to her.

Job Skills

To do her job Holly needs to:

- Turn up to work on time
- Act and dress appropriately around children
- Use physical skills to carry heavy plates and balance drinks
- Use attention to detail when cleaning the floors and tables
- Be able to work in a noisy, busy environment
- Act as a good role model for children
- Be active and moving around a lot to supervise the children at play time
